

Ciscoe Bio for Written Publication (fine to shorten)

Ciscoe is a popular horticulturist in the Pacific Northwest. He is well known in the media and has hosted garden shows on TV and radio. He appears regularly on King5's 'New Day Northwest', the King5 news, and King5's 'Evening'. His popular 'Gardening with Ciscoe' show with Meeghan Black aired for many years on KING/KONG TV. His book, 'Ask Ciscoe', was a national best seller and his new book Oh, La La is hot off the press. In addition, he wrote a weekly garden column for the Seattle Post Intelligencer followed by the Seattle Times. He was recently awarded the prestigious B.Y. Morrison Communications Award from the American Horticultural Society (AHS). On average, Ciscoe delivers over 50 presentations a year on topics ranging from environmentally friendly garden design to plants that attract hummingbirds. Ciscoe can often be found working in his Northeast Seattle garden which has been featured in several publications. Besides gardening, he is passionate about travel. Despite his busy schedule, he manages to find time to lead garden tours all over the world.

Ciscoe Short Bio for Live Introduction (fine to shorten)

Ciscoe is well known in the Pacific Northwest. He has appeared regularly on T.V. and radio throughout his career. His book, Ask Ciscoe, was a national best seller and his new book Oh, La La is hot off the press. When he is not speaking or writing, he is often gardening at his home in Northeast Seattle or off hosting a garden tour somewhere in the world. Thanks to all those brussels sprouts he eats, he is even better looking in real life than on T.V.
